

Dear Madam or Sir,

I am a Senior Software Engineer with 5+ years of experience, based in Bristol. I am applying to the Senior Software Engineer role since the job description and the company mission resonated with my professional experience and values:

- I believe in clean software architectural design.
- I have been following object oriented design principles throughout my career.
- I understand the value that Test Driven Development brings to the table: unparalleled bug prevention translating in better code safety.
- Passionate about containerisation with Docker.
- Worked in codebases where Jenkins was used for CI/CD pipelines.

I have had exposure to Java at the beginning of my career and after that I worked with C++ and python. The statement of Lloyds Banking Group excites me together with the company culture: "finance as force for good".

Yours faithfully,

Edoardo
